Our Friend
Mark

We all know the one,
Who left us for a while
You could not mistake the one who always wore a smile
You may not have noticed
As he passed through the hall,
But he seemed to have the biggest heart of all.
Quiet and calm, never a wrong move,
But his friendship, over and over he'd prove.
This friend of ours who never went out of his way
To only make a comment of how rotten a day.
Looking to each day for a new surprise,
Until the shadow of death
met his eyes.
We pray he now runs and rejoices,
in heaven's great park
For next we'll meet eye to eye, with our dear friend, Mark.

Amanda Schuster

The 1988 Lantern is dedicated to the memory of Mark William Witte who reminded all his peers of their good fortune, their need to mimic his fortitude and appreciation of life.

Mark's life was our life. His courage and strength was ours.

A life is a circle, from birth to death. Mark's circle is complete. It is also a perfect circle in every way. A completed circle has no end. It has only a beginning. Mark was our beginning.

A NEW BEGINNING

Getting acquainted to a new school, Coach Gooden gets to know some students in his gym class.

Not only did the student body have to adapt to a new staff and rules, but to pad locks!! This meant no more "popping lockers, shoving that wad of gum, or even taping that pencil at the bottom of your locker. Not too many people were happy about it, but that's the way it was!

Adapting to these changes was new and challenging, but not near as shocking as the one we all experienced together for the first time as a school: the fire.

This brought on a new beginning, a new look, and it also gave Heritage Pride a new meaning! HHS stuck together and gave it their all at this tragic moment.

With unpredictable changes like this, we could adapt to anything! Maybe it would be a good year after all. Why wouldn't it be? As another old saying goes, "Things gotta get worse before they can get better!" So no matter how impossible, how sudden, how unreal, or how unfair things may be, stick together and make it the best! There won't be time to turn back later!!!

As the old saying goes, "Time flies when you're having fun." Many people felt that way as their fun-filled and adventurous vacation came to a halt. Soon enough the summer was over and we stepped into many changes as we walked through the school's doors.

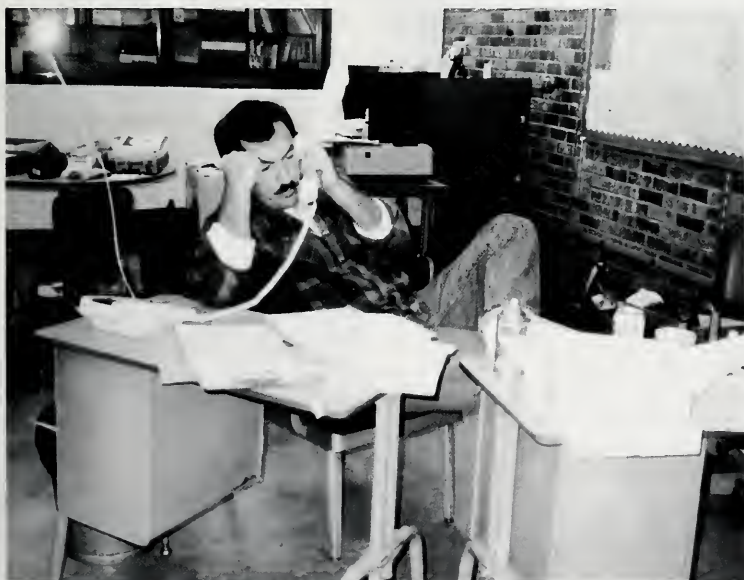

New faces wondered about the halls, not only among the students, but through the administration and staff also. When people saw Mr. Herber, our new principal, some were stunned at his size and knew right then that they wouldn't be causing any trouble, while others continued to think nothing of it. Two new basketball coaches were hired and also two new guidance-help teachers.

When school began, Mr. Herber had only one goal. He strived to accomplish: to make Heritage one of the best schools in East Allen. His comment was, "I want to make a difference here." A lot of people wanted to see that, but there were still rebels; however, a few months later things began to slowly straighten up.

Assuring us that things would soon get better since the fire, a rainbow appeared across the field.

Sail Ends with fun

The teachers' creativity helped them to think of such names as "The Scavenger Hunt." This was a hunt for each student to find out what their classmates liked and did the most. To understand themselves better, they had an ordinal position lecture, role plays on family members and their situation, and a work sheet on types of parents.

At the end of the semester, the letter written by each student was handed back. The students could see the changes made over the semester. The teachers ideas worked well and proved them to be "sane."

In art class, Miss Plough demonstrates with clay.

While looking at Miss Plough, Sophomores Jamie Rinehart & Cindy Ward look puzzled.

Physical Education Proves To Be Healthy

Physical Education is a class that is required for two semesters. Many games are played in P.E. such as softball, football, volleyball, soccer, kickball, and an aerobics class. "The kids seem to enjoy playing games in a class rather than having a lot of homework," commented girls gym teacher, Ms. Wyss.

Although P.E. isn't just a game, physical fitness testing must be taken in the spring. Also written exams are taken at the end of each semester. Taking P.E. class is a good way to have fun and be away from the other classes, and is a great way to stay in shape.

Health could be one of the most important classes ever taken. You don't only learn about the human body, but also about how to save a person's life. CPR is one of the first things learned in Health class, along with the Heimlich Manuever.

Students also learn about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. "One of the highlights about this year's Health class was visiting the McMillan Health Center because it was reorganized and it is a great place to learn for young boys and girls what is hard to teach," commented freshman Health teacher, Mr. Wehrmeister.

The Jr. High Health teachers for this year are: Ms. Wyss, and Mrs. Gilbert. The high school teachers are: Mr. Wehrmeister, and Mr. Gooden.

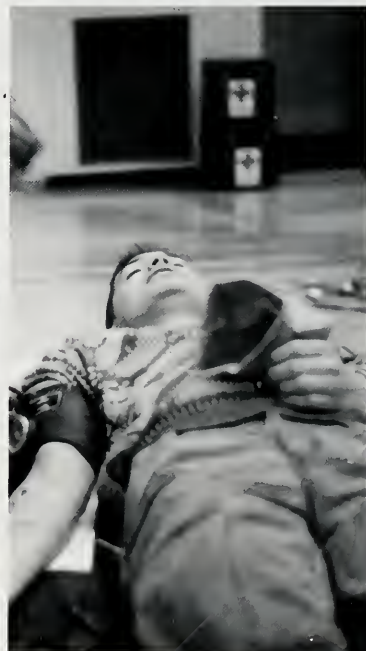

While in Health class, freshman students help each other with their assignments.

While stretching out before class, Freshman Todd Buckmaster gets caught.

During P.E. class several boys follow their leader.

Sophomore Deb Ulman contemplates an amusing thought.

Mrs. Hunter takes time to explain the assignment to the class.

While in Home Ec class, Missy Koennemann listens closely.

The following cartoon, according to Mrs. Hunter, shows how busy her department is.

Todd Scheumann tries not to cut his fingers on the band saw.

Mr. Fisher, Ind. Arts teacher, listens to his student closely.

An unidentified student works hard in the shop.

Keeping up with the Times.

The world outside us is changing every day, and to keep up with it we must change, too. The business and computers department at Heritage plays a big role in the changes going on around us.

The business world continues to grow and change, which means that every year there is more to learn, for teachers and students alike.

Among those who teach these subjects are: Mr. Grabner, Mrs. Flowers, Mr. Bertels, and Mr. Rademacher.

The courses taught include Computers 1 and 2, taught by Mr. Bertels, and Keyboarding and Office Machinery, which Mr. Grabner teaches. Mrs. Flowers teaches Computer Literacy, Word Processing, and Shorthand. Finally, Mr. Rademacher teaches Recordkeeping, Keyboarding, Personal Typing, and Business Law.

One student commented about his typing class, "Now that I've taken it, I don't know how I ever got along without it!"

Looking surprised, Senior Amy Biddle glances up from her typing assignment.

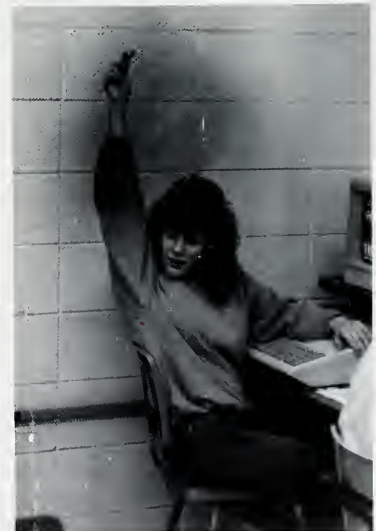

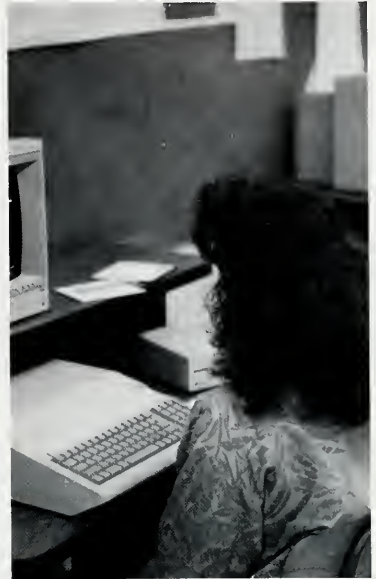

Instead of doing their work, some students talk with friends.

Students work hard to finish before the bell.

Getting impatient, Carrie Long tries to attract her teacher's attention.

Preparing to leave class, Seniors Susie Baatz and Shannon Deitschel get caught by the camera.

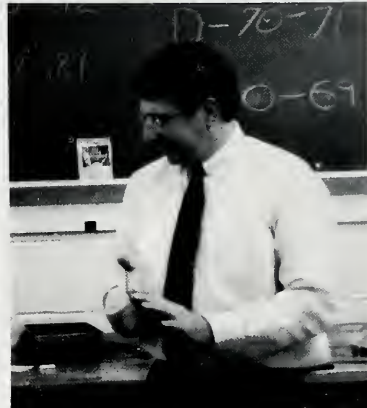

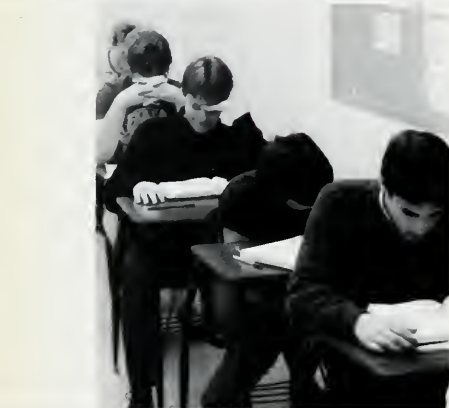

Senior Karen Ottenweller concentrates hard while working on the computers.

Reading the new section in Algebra, Freshman Scott Buuck studies hard.

Looking at a demonstration, Mr. Brier gets a laugh out of it.

What's this for?"

In every course there is always a student asking that same question, "What do I need this for?"

In life almost everyone's goal is making money, money, and more money. Without math courses, one wonders how to balance check books or add on to their much worn home.

One may be putting a long board where a short one goes and getting paid forty dollars for seventy hours of work. Laughing, this all seems impossible but where would one be without mathematics techniques? Very confused, and almost walking in a daze.

Math is not the only important subject though, science also has many advantages in life.

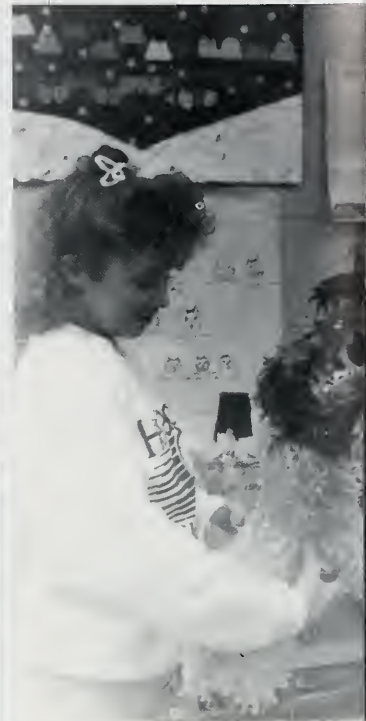

Without science one would die of only a common cold. There would be no vaccines or ways of saving human lives.

A person would not understand the difference between a bird and an alligator.

Without math and science our lives today would not be capable of the many things we face.

Learning About The Past

This year's history class was extremely active, performing trials, having constitutional conventions, and playing educational games like jeopardy. The history teacher, Mr. Hany, said the reason he likes teaching this class is because he enjoys the kids, especially when they learn things that will help them later on. When asked why students must learn history, Mr. Hany replied, "So they learn how they came about and how not to make repeated mistakes." He also said, the reason he chose this class is because it's fun and more exciting than his first choice . . . physical education. When asked what he thought students should learn most he concluded, "To think for themselves."

In the Air and Space museum, in Washington, D.C., a group of juniors enjoy some fun times with Mr. Hany.

A group of juniors take a few moments to pose on the steps of the Library Of Congress in Washington, D.C.

Using her time wisely, Junior Amy Lybarger completes her assignment.

Listening closely to Mr. Hany, Junior Amy Kolter shows how interested she is.

Junior Mark McKinnon gives his philosophy during history class.

Memories of Band and Choir

Every year in choir and band, memories are made. There is new music to be memorized, new faces to be met, and new lessons to be learned.

Throughout the year, both classes were involved in many activities. The band sold cheese and sausage, while the choir traveled around Fort Wayne giving concerts in various places.

Everyone has different ways of remembering the 1987-88 school year. Some people's most vivid memories were embarrassing, some funny, and some were just memorable.

As long as we live, there will be some things that will never be forgotten.

"My most embarrassing moment in choir was when I was hopping on the steps and I fell face first onto my chair", said Judi Ables.

"The thing I remember most is when I had to sing a solo. I was scared-to-death that I would screw up — and I did!" replied Michelle Mulligan.

Though the comments about band were good, there were also a few complaints. Most stemmed from the fact that no one appreciated the early morning practices.

But all in all, the good seems to outweigh the bad.

Casey Kolkman sums it up best by saying, "Choir is my favorite class."

After a wild weekend, Senior Aimee Kalthoff can barely keep her eyes open.

The band works hard to please Mr. Tussing.

Under Mr. Mergenthal's direction, Heather Stults, Becky Grodrian, and Taya Schane prepare for contest.

Working her hardest, Jenny Lee tries to perfect her singing.

Looking serious, Mr. Tussing directs the band.

At a student council meeting, the members discuss future events.

During band, senior David Lee catches the rhythm to play his part correctly.

Sophomore Jody Grotrian, a student council member, helps during the Focus on Health program.

At summer band camp, Jeanett Meyer and Beth Fuhrman try to learn their routine.

During choir, sophomore Chad Heffernan listens for further instructions.

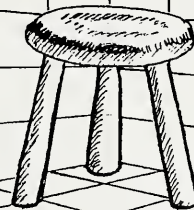

Directing the band, Junior Fayth Zellers moves to the beat of the song.

In publications, Jody Grotrian and Cindy Ward talk about their assignments.

During publications, Judi Ables looks for the help of the editor.

Proud to be a member!

In the graduating class of 1988 there are many things to be proud of and one of these things is the Heritage Scholastic Society. The program consists of the top ten percent of students in the senior class.

These positions are not gained easily. However, they require many hours of hard and dedicated work.

Buskins this year remained active as always. With the loss of Mr. Schmidt, the group still remained very supportive.

To maintain a Buskins position, one must be active in the plays, musicals, set crew, make-up crew, costume crew, etc. For each job done the individual receives points to get into the Buskins club. After seeking a position one must get so many points to remain active in Buskins.

The members of Buskins work very hard all through the year and towards the end of the year are rewarded with a very special banquet.

Before dress rehearsal, Mr. Schmidt checks the lighting.

"Practice Makes Perfect True For Choir"

Heritage is very proud of its outstanding choir, and with good reason: The choir had an extremely successful year. This was only achieved by much work and dedication. Concert choir meets every day during the year, and the Heritage Harmony Connection meets outside of school. Both groups must give up many weekends to perform at the many competitions that they participate in. But a desire to sing and be a part of a close-knit group made it all worthwhile.

Heritage did well in competition. The concert choir was in many ISSMA District contests, and brought home a first. They were also the largest entry. The Heritage Harmony Connection won a participation award at the DeKalb Street Fair. They could not win a first since they won it last year. They also took a first in the Swing Choir Contest. The choir again traveled to state contest in Indy, where they won several awards.

Overall, how did the choir do this year? According to Mr. Mergenthal, "Excellent! I was very pleased. They worked hard and developed good musical skills. They were a fun group." And what does he plan for next year's choir? "I hope that they will be an energetic group of young people that will make the choir the best it can be."

"Get that — camera out of my face!", states Junior Janel Wagner before choir class.

Band Works To Full Potential

This year the Heritage marching band received a first rating at district competition and a second rating at Regional competition. The songs they performed to were first "Excellision," the second was "Musical Instruments," which featured the percussion instruments, next "Live and Let Die" with senior Brett Bade playing a trumpet solo, and the finali, "When You Wish Upon A Star," which featured sophomore Todd Darras performing another trumpet solo.

The band had summer camp for two weeks to begin preparing themselves for competition. The patriettes went to MA camp at Dayton for one week. There the rifles and flags received the award, Grand Nationals Champions. Seniors Sara Ratliff and Becky Scheumann went to the Blue Bonnet Bowl. Tami Bienz was nominated.

Mr. Tussing commented, "This has been a very successful year. Although we did not achieve all the goals we made for ourselves, we worked to our potential and made many gains." Also he said, "The patriettes deserve much applause for all of the hard work and time and support they gave their school. They performed at all home games (both boys and girls) and gave many flawless performances."

Separation, a needed change

The Publications Department has seen many changes this year. One major change was the separation of the yearbook and newspaper staffs. Students working on the yearbook were moved to first period, and the newspaper class continued to be seventh. This allowed more students to be a part of Publications, as opposed to before, when only "the few, the proud, the brave," (and possibly the stupid,) were allowed into this elite group.

Another change was the introduction of a textbook. No longer was journalism class considered a "blow-off". Students actually had to learn something. (can you believe it?!) And learn they did. Their vocabularies expanded and their creativity grew as they understood the more technical aspects of running a yearbook or newspaper. This will allow them to bring you improved quality reading material, while helping them towards a career. So although Publications has survived many changes, it is still a class in which one can learn valuable writing skills, contribute to one's school, and still have a great time.

Productive Year For FFA & Letterman

The FFA this year is made up of 23 students who are an extension of the Voc. Ag. classes at Heritage. They participate in many activities throughout the year. In the past year they have joined in activities ranging from being soil judges to selling fruit to playing on an FFA basketball team. In the District FFA Leadership Program, last summer the members took time out and spent a day at Cedar Point.

The FFA officers this year are: Dean Castleman, pres., Sam Spieth, vice pres., Treasurer Larry Oberly, and Sec. Dennis Castleman. Laura Benzing is reporter.

The Lettermen's Club also had a very productive year. Their major project was the Lift-A-Thone, which was very successful. The members raised about $2,200, which will be used to put new equipment in the weight room.

Elections for officers were held early this year. Gary Fry was chosen as president, while Matt Gerardot was elected vice pres., Mark Stahl is the sec./treas. and Steve Hetler is sergeant-at-arms.

FASHION FOCUS

Keep rockin' to the Blues in your acid bleached fashions! New styles and the latest trends are always fun to dress in. Keeping up on the "what's hot and what's not" is sometimes rather complicated. Fashion changes from season to season so quickly. What's in one month is out the next!

During the winter, neutral shades along with kaki-green, peach, and cream were hot for a girl's wardrobe, where as sharp expensive Adidas sweat shirts and acid washed jeans were simply "sleek" with the guys. However, those months only last so long and then it's time to jump into tight tanks or a ty-dye "T" for those with an active attitude! Keep up on the latest if you think it's fun; trends weren't made to last! So, think "hot and be cool!!"

HOT

A New Beginning

As we reach out our hand, the diploma we grasp,
While we think of the memories of the years past,
Tears fill our eyes because it's all gone.
We're starting a new life.
We have to move on.
We hope friends will keep in touch,
As the years pass us by.
Although it hurts inside,
We'll try not to cry.
We think of kindergarten
and our first day.
Now we've reached the end, We are going away.
How do you say good-bye to friends who mean so much?
Will there be time to sincerely keep in touch?
You'll always have memories of your school years from day one.
Don't think of school as ending—
Think a new life has begun.

Class of '88 A Family

As a class, we have been through a lot together; not just the good but also the bad. We are close as a family. Everyone may have had special friends they hung around with throughout our four years of high school. But we were always there for each other. Mention party and everyone is there or mention one of us in trouble and we are all there to help.

Most of us were total strangers our freshman year . . . at first not feeling as if we really belonged. But soon after the mixer we all became friends, growing closer with each passing day.

As our sophomore year brought us back to school, we found a need for each other. As school was preparing to start, a fellow classmate, Brent Case, was killed in an automobile accident on HWY 27. The closeness of our class helped everyone through this rough time in all of our lives. Through this tragedy we grew even closer.

As our junior year began we enjoyed beating the seniors (Con't) . . .

During lunch Kelly Buckmaster gets caught enjoying the macaroni and cheese in the cafeteria.

in the powder puff game during homecoming. The year went by fast, soon it was prom time. For many this was our first prom, which we will remember "Now and Forever." During field day we won the tug-of-war defeating the seniors, but still came in second overall. Graduation soon followed. As many of us watched, we realized that next year this would be us (Class of '88).

As our senior year started, many could not wait until May 20, our last day at Heritage or May 27, graduation. But as that day approached we waited with anticipation and fear. For after graduation we would not longer have the security of Heritage, which we had known. For the family we had become, would be going their separate ways after graduation, only to return on special occasions, breaks from college, and holidays. Then maybe only seeing the special friends we made at Heritage. We will all miss the second family we had become throughout high school at Heritage.

Juniors Make it!

They were finally upperclassmen. The 129 Juniors were ready for a year of memory-making.

The new class officers were elected and were as follows: President—Amy Kolter, Vice-President—Mark Webb, Secretary—Erin Reed, Treasurer—Amy Guenther.

As fall soon arrived, the magazine sales began, each student was expected to sell five subscriptions to help pay for class activities such as prom and graduation.

On April 23 the annual Junior/

Senior prom was held at the Scottish Rite Auditorium. The theme was "I've had the time of my life."

As the school year soon began to come to a close each Junior had many memories to treasure: But also they began to think back that they never again would be juniors at Heritage High School, but now they were Seniors.

Junior Dawn Biesiada commented: "It was a Great year, I enjoyed It."

Decisions . . .

Deciding what to do with the rest of your life always seemed so far away. As the class of '89 began another school year, all of those decisions were coming closer and closer. What should I become: a fireman, a nurse, a teacher or not even go to college, get married, get fat and have a family?

The road that lies ahead may be rough and bumpy and may seem like there is no end to it, but it is the most important one that a person will travel.

As some of the juniors prepare to go off to local colleges such as IPFW, others have bigger dreams: Indiana, Purdue, and Notre Dame to fulfill their childhood dreams.

GETTING INVOLVED—IT PAYS OFF

Waiting for the bell to ring, Sophomore Eric Woenker listens to some other classmates.

As the class of 1990 walked through the doors on the first day of school, they took on the role of being the new sophomore class. "At the beginning of the year you feel like you're still a freshman but at the end you feel like an upperclassman," commented Rick Ternet and Jay Melcher.

The class officers were elected in September. They are the following: President Adam Riley, Vice-President Heather Sturm, Secretary

Becky Grodrian, and Treasurer Todd Buckmaster.

Student Council members were also elected. Randy Shuler, Jane Jacquay, Jody Grotrian, and Heather Johnston were chosen this year.

"Being involved in Student Council is a lot of fun. We got to get out of class a lot during the Focus On Health and the Bloodmobile. The weekend convention was a lot of fun too," said Jane Jacquay.

SOPHOMORES: MORE CHOICES AND PRIVILEGES

With a year of experience behind them, the sophomores were looking forward to bigger and better challenges. They were given more choice of elective classes, and were not just limited to the basics.

Many sophomores were able to obtain their license after taking drivers training during the summer. "It's a lot easier for our class to get together outside of school activities now that most of us have our licenses," commented Sophomore Heather Stults.

Besides not being a "rookie" anymore, the sophomore class had a lot to look forward to. They were half-way finished with high school and were going to be upperclassmen next year. "The best thing about being a sophomore is not being called a rookie anymore and being one year closer to graduation," commented Sophomore Missy Koenemann.

Being a sophomore also gives one more privilege (being as cruel to the freshmen as the upperclassmen were to you the year before). "The freshmen probably hate us for it this year, but next year they'll be doing the same thing," commented Sophomore Rick Ternet.

Suicide

To the editor: Every year we lose several teenagers in our community to suicide. We keep hoping it will all stop, but so far it hasn't. I hear every ninety minutes, a teenager in this country commits suicide.

This is for every youth who is considering ending it all: you haven't seen the world that exists outside your family. Soon, you will be on your own, and then you will understand what is important and what is not. What you don't know is that fifteen minutes later after you decide to kill yourself you might feel better, or two hours, or two years. What you don't understand is that you're stronger than you think. You can find another girlfriend or you can be shamed more than (can't...)

you think . . .
Failing in school, getting in trouble with the law may be painful but you can get over it. Do not kill yourself over events you won't remember ten years from now. What you don't know there is nothing romantic, mysterious, or "deep" about killing yourself. It is a "godawful mess." Suicide is sneaky, spiteful, and filled with anger. If you are thinking of suicide, you're furious with somebody. You can be furious without killing yourself or thinking you need a punishment of death. Suicide is forever, and nobody, not your parents or your doctor can fix it. You won't be around for your funeral. So get smart, join the marines, go to Calif., find a therapist, lapse into sadness, become as mad as the Dickens, but get off the suicide trip . . . it's a dead end.

Schmidt's Last Play Outstanding

This years' production, "The Miracle Worker", was outstanding, even though the cast missed five days of rehearsal due to the fire. After the fire, the actors, actresses and crews along with Mr. Schmidt worked together to clean the costumes, stage, and props. This was all done in order to prepare for Mr. Schmidt's final fall production.

The story is based on the life of Helen Keller, a blind and deaf girl. Annie Sullivan (Cathy Cardwell) is hired to teach Helen (Amy Biddle) language. Helen's father, Captain Keller (Chad Critchley) shows disbelief toward Annie and her intentions to help her communicate with others. Annie isolates Helen from her family and teaches her manners by treating Helen like a "normal" child. In the end, Helen learns there is meaning in language and her family realized Helen is capable of adapting to a normal life.

Feeling betrayed by her parents, Helen hugs on to her doll for security.

At the blind school, the students ask Annie to stay.

At the train station, James (Eric Snider) and Kate Keller greet Annie upon arrival.

At the dinner table, Annie insists that Kate Keller (Becky Scheiman) should not put up with Helen's actions.

Discussing the situation, Kate tells Captain Keller that they need Annie to help teach Helen.

Watching the new arrival, Martha (Maria Matthias) and Percy (Tony Stephenson) stare at Annie.

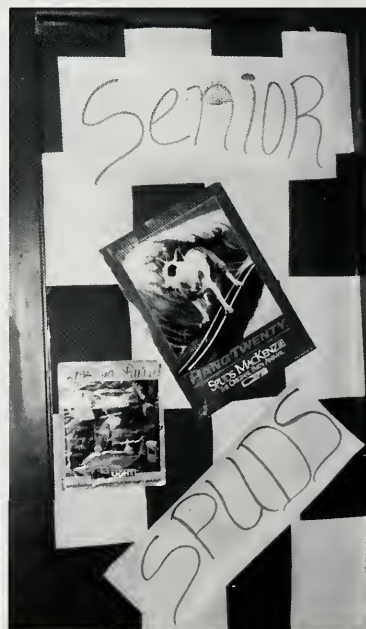

Outcome of Homecoming '88

Homecoming has come and gone. The seniors once again were victorious in showing the most spirit during spirit week. It was a close race this year, with the seniors only losing the powderpuff to the juniors by one touch down. As Monday morning came around the halls were filled with the school colors red, white, and blue. Students from all grades participated in decorating the school. The student body was involved in class dress up day. With "Senior Spuds", "Jamming Junior Jokers", "Sophomore Surfers", and "Funky Freshmen". Even though the patriots lost to the Lions the school spirit continued that night at the dance. The dance followed the game with the crowning of the king, Browning Sheehan, and Susie Baatz as queen.

"Spuds" Doghouse represented the Senior Hallway this year during Spirit Week. (Seniors Won!)

This is just one section of the hallway that the Seniors decorated to show their spirit during Homecoming.

Watching to see the next touchdown Senior Ty Hockemeyer waits to be put in the game.

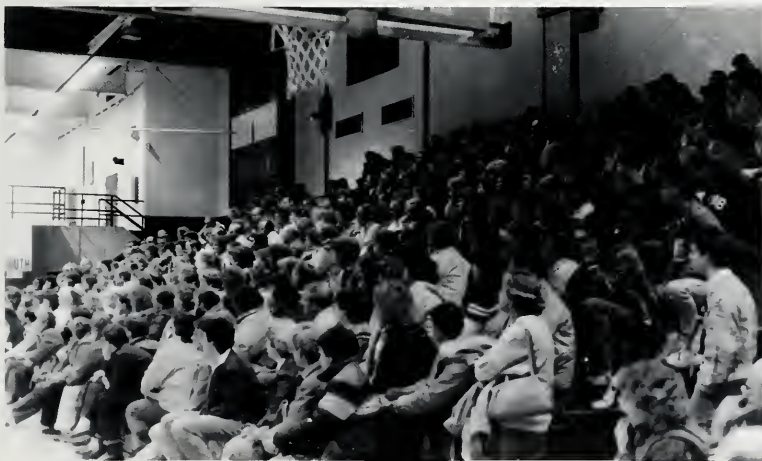

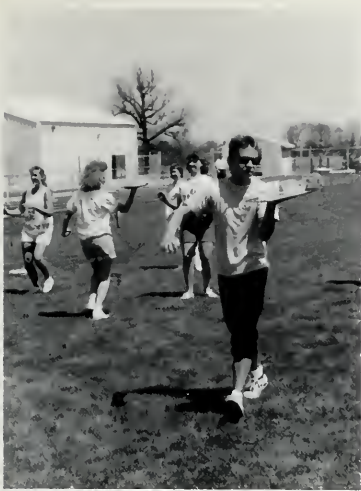

The powderpuff game ended with the traditional shaving creme and egg fight between the Seniors and Juniors.

Developing their cheerleading skills (from l-r) Seniors Larry Mott, David Ray, Mike McCallum, Joel Hoffman, and Tony Stephenson are the '87 powderpuff cheerleaders.

'88 SCHOOL SPIRIT

HERITAGE WINS WITH "GODSPELL"

MUSICAL

The Musical "Godspell" was performed on May 5, 6, and 7. The cast consisted of only 21 people. The drama director was Marcia Rosene, vocal direction was under Jim Mergenthal, the choreographing was produced by Kim Bronson, and the orchestra was directed by Kevin March.

"Godspell" is a musical based upon the Godspel according to St. Matthew. It was conceived and originally directed by John-Michael Tebelak.

The musical began with the happiness of baptism, then proceeded with the curiosity and acceptance of Jesus to the people, then the high spiritedness led to the saddening crucifixion scene, finally joy filled the stage once again as the "finale" (resurrection) occurred.

The cast and company were dressed in brightly colored clothes with symbols painted on their faces. Later on the symbols were washed away to show that they truly accepted Jesus and wanted to be his followers.

"There were many long hours of practicing which followed with a lot of frustrations in order to produce this show, but in the end the entire cast, crew, and directors received the true "spell of God!"

Dancing with her partner, Senior Amy Bidle performs in Godspell.

The entire cast enjoys the moment as they participate in a scene.

Seniors Amy Biddle and Tony Stephenson successfully play a scene.

Foreign exchange student Claudia Martinez shows her acting abilities on an American stage.

Almost at the end, the cast puts on a few more "touches".

SPRING BREAK '88

THE TRADITION CONTINUES . . .

What U.S. location offers students the chance to bask in the warm tropical air and sun on white, sandy beaches? Florida, of course.

The first week of every April finds high school students flocking to the South en masse to enjoy the freedom of Spring Break.

Preparation for Spring Break takes many weeks. Tanning salons are packed, regular weekend activities are curbed to save money for Spring Break, room reservations and driving arrangements must be made. It is not uncommon for as many as eight students to share one motel room because of the vast crowds that showup in the resort areas.

As this year's Spring Break drew to a close, students headed home to the responsibilities of school, and to the reality that they had to leave Florida behind.

Relaxing by their first sand castle, Seniors Susie Baatz and Shannon Deitschel pose for a quick pic.

"I HAD THE TIME OF MY LIFE"

"I Had the Time of My Life" could sum up the evening at the prom. An evening starting out with many photographs fading into a special dance just for you.

It seemed as if no one else was around; like the night was made especially for you. As the soft glowing lights put sparkles in his eyes, you got a feeling you'd never felt before. It felt like a dream that should last forever, but only that night would do.

The lasting impressions of teal, peach, and cream streamers and ballons floating around the Scottish Rite made a memorable night for April 23. A night no one would forget, especially the new Prom King, Wade Bearman, and Prom Queen, Amy Kolter.

Those memories will linger on inside for always and the pictures will express that you had the time of your life!

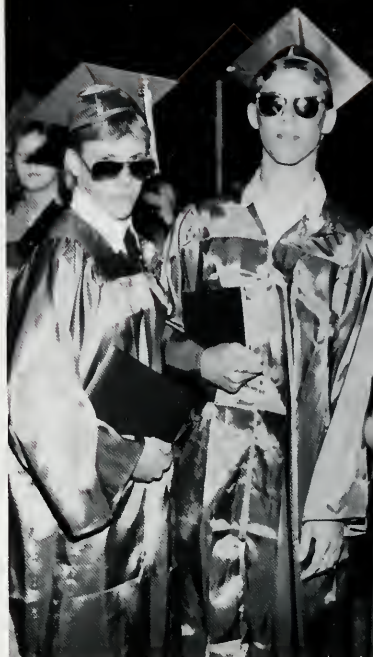

Surprised after being announced King, Junior Wade Bearman receives the crown from Senior Browning Sheehan.

Displaying their expensive tastes for the night, this group of people arrived in a Limosine.

Embracing. Wendy Collett hugs Brian Lothamer to show how much she cares.

Giving her speech at graduation, Sara Ratliff hesitates to give a moment of memory.

Laughing at the presentation, a few seniors enjoy their last moment as seniors.

Walking to their seats, a few members of the class of 1988 recall the previous years.

Listening to the presentation, the seniors show many mixed emotions.

Joking around, Cathy Cardwell says her good-byes with a smile.

After graduation, Becky Scheiman and Paul Hoffman laugh at some past events.

Talking with her friends, Stacy Emehiser wishes the past could have lasted forever.

New Principal Brings New Changes

This year Heritage received a new principal, Mr. Robert Herber. Mr. Herber started teaching in 1969 at Central Catholic High School. After that school closed, he moved to Dwenger where he taught for seven years as Dean of Students. Then in 1984, he applied as athletic director for New Haven High School. After a year, the assistant principal position became open, which he then received and served for two years. Later last year, he found the vacancy for principal at Heritage and as he has always sought out a challenge, he applied for the position. Some of the courses he taught include government, Black history, U.S. history, and sociology. He also coached golf, basketball, football, and track.

Mr. Herber describes himself as a competitive person and that he feels, is why he has progressed through life as he has. He saw the opening as principal as a chance to use more of his philosophy in administering the students of today. He finds it more rewarding than being an assistant principal, where he had spent most of his time as a disciplinarian, rather than dealing with the positive side of education.

He regrets that he has had to spend so much time this year redesigning the office structure. He had hopes of meeting many more students than this year has allowed him. Yet, he feels the year has ended on a positive note.

Mr. Herber hopes that he can make education more exciting for students by giving the administration the freedom to experiment with new ideas. He commented on his future goals as principal for Heritage, "I want it to be the best school in East Allen, by providing the best education and opportunities for students." As for now, he feels Heritage does a good job with what is available. Because we are a small school, "Heritage cannot offer all the courses the larger schools can, but we are not faced with the problems that threaten those in the larger schools."

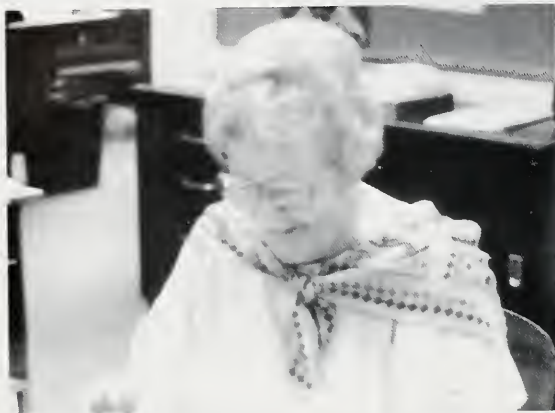

During algebra class, Mr. Heimann attempts to enlighten those suffering from terminal bewilderment.

While evaluating a class, Mr. Herber stops to joke with the students.

Ordinary People

Do students expect too much from teachers? Students seem to have impressed in their minds that teachers should be flawless and always professional. This image is not what all teachers choose to display.

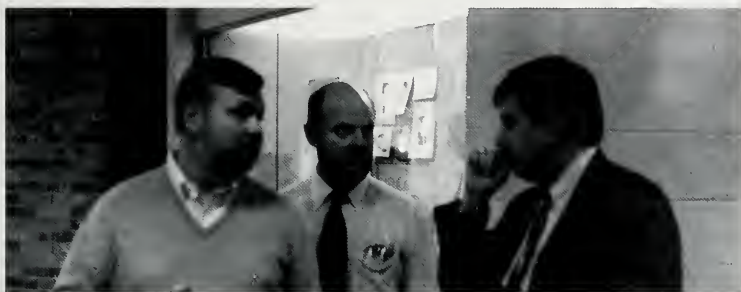

This past year, teachers have "cut loose" more in front of students than before. These attitudes have helped to make this rough year more enjoyable and have also shown to students that teachers are ordinary individuals who love kids and enjoy teaching.

After the fire, the faculty along with the community came in their "old" clothes to help clean the school. They displayed loyalty and concern for their school. Heritage is the faculty's school as well as the students'. The faculty's professionalism is in their love, concern and care for the students and the community not in an outward display of mannerisms and dress.

Volleyball's Goals Almost Achieved

The '87 varsity girls volleyball team showed signs of great achievement in the early season, but the team did not meet their goals in the end. This was the second year for Coach Dave Mulligan with his team hoping for Conference and Sectional championships. They finished second in the championship ACAC game to Carroll. The varsity was defeated by Bishop Luers in the second game of Sectionals.

Three members of the varsity team showed outstanding talent. Denise Scheuman was selected to the all-Conference team, while Jill Grotrian and Tami Bienz were awarded honorable mentions. "It was a year of building and some adjustments. Although we fell short of our goals, we had fun as a team," commented senior Tammy Lydy.

The reserve team finished their season with a record of 11-2. The team won the reserve tourney that was held at Heritage this year. "Practices were really hard, but it all paid off in the end," said Jody Grotrian.

Although the freshman team consisted of many talented players, they had a rough season and were only able to pull out one win over Harding. Next year the girls hope to bring their talents together as a team and have many more victories. Freshman Judy Ables added, "It was fun to be involved as a member of team, but the competition was tougher than we had anticipated."

Scores are not available.

During a reserve game, Sophomore Beth Fuhrman concentrates on her serve.

Ending up the season, sophomore Deb Ulman helps to improve the team's record.

Hedges Advances To State Competition

The Cross Country team consisted of a fine group of guys. They finished the season 6-5 in their meets.

Sophomore, Norm Hedges had an outstanding season. Out of 4800 kids, Norm finished 28 in state. Norm also set a new school record. He had the best sophomore time in school history.

Coach Hany was pleased with the team over all. "They were a group of hard workers and all improved their time by at least one minute."

The girls Cross Country team acquired two new coaches last season. Mrs. Wyss and Sara Wyss coached the young team through a rough season. The six girls, consisting of five underclassmen, did not accomplish as well as they had hoped, yet they had fun participating.

Keeping warm during practice, sophomore, Norm Hedges turns away from the wind.

Winning Isn't Everything.

"That was a game out there guys, not a cream puff fight." Throwing his book of plays down, the coach sternly gave the team a minute to recall the game.

Thinking quietly to themselves, in serious thought, they all remembered the mistakes that caused their loss. The incomplete pass, missed tackles and yardage penalties.

"Determination," the coach yells, "it's not the loss, it's the lack of concentration." Walking around the room he stammers out, "A game means dedication, hard work, and your will to try your best."

The players' look of disgust brings out another outburst. "I honestly don't think any of you gave it your best, if you did, I doubt that any of you would be mad right now and staring at the wall." He screamed from the top of his lungs, "I was out there too! Just remember, winning isn't everything. It's how you play the game that counts and that's what hurt us."

The guys practiced hard and came out on top with a record of 10-8 in the regular season, and 5-2 in ACAC. They put in lots of hours, working and pushing to improve. With their coach, Mr. Steve Driver, they learned more about basketball, became stronger, and gained the experience needed to become a winning team. It was also a way to make new friends and be a part of a team while showing pride in one's school. These are just a few reasons why we have such a successful basketball program at Heritage.

This year the freshman team gained valuable experience and learned to work together, helping them towards a future of representing Heritage on the basketball team. They had a rough season, only winning four games, but they put a lot of effort out, and really worked hard. Hopefully in the future, this experience will pay off and next year they will have a really great season.

Support, Who Needs It??

The moment seemed like a lifetime away ... the first wrestling meet.

Walking out onto the floor, you discover the opponents are a lot bigger than you thought. Mixed up on what to do, run and hide, or take a beating like a man? You decide to go out there and give it your best.

As the match starts, you start out very slowly with a low level of confidence. Progressing little by little, you feel you just might have a chance. As you're dreaming of pinning your opponent, you come to reality and see just the opposite is happening.

With little struggle, you wait to be pinned. Just then you hear something. It's the crowd and they are yelling your name.

With a sudden sting, all of their energy bursts inside of you. Striking up like a bolt of lightning you fight for the match and win after a long struggle.

This years gymnastics team, although smaller than usual, had a very successful season.

The season started off with a different prospective than usual. The team had to learn the new ways of coaching by Mr. Barry Ruhl.

Although the season did not start off fantastic due to injuries and other problems, the girls still remained very determined. Determination is what brought them to the excellent performances they achieved throughout the season.

Individually, each gymnast performed to her highest ability. The team, a young one, has many things to be proud of.

Even though the team has many exceptional gymnasts, Freshman Tammy Faller showed extravagant abilities. Tammy obtained many fine performances and should be a key gymnast on the Heritage squad in years to come.

After her performance, Susan Johnson concentrates on her next performance.

Watching the meet, Coach Ruhl waits for the results of the performances.

On the bar routine, Sophomore Heather Sturm prepares to straddle on the bars.

On the beam, Senior Becky Scheumann finishes off her routine.

Freshman and Reserve Teams Show Improvement

The reserve basketball team had an outstanding season this year with 16 wins and only 2 losses to Bishop Luers and Concordia.

The Patriots had a new coach this year. Brad Martin was the coach for the reserve girls.

Amy Hoffman commented, "We all knew it was going to be a lot different this year mainly because of the new coaches, but I think it turned out really good. We had a lot of fun and had a real good season, too."

The team consisted of 12 sophomores this year. "Most of us worked real hard this summer by going to camps or playing in the summer league or coming to the gym on weeknights for open gym. I'm sure we'll do the same this summer and hopefully improve more for next year," commented Sophomore Jody Grotrian.

The freshman team finished with a record of 13 losses and 1 win. Freshman Jennifer Lepper commented, "Our team improved a lot as the season went on. Next year we should have an even better season."

Also commenting for the freshman team was Freshman Judi Ables. Judi said, "Going from Junior high ball to high school ball is a big switch. Even though our record wasn't the best, we all had a lot of fun."

Determined players reach goals

This year's girls varsity basketball team had many new changes in store for their 1987-88 season.

No longer having Mrs. Cheri Gilbert for a coach they had to make a change to Mr. Max Eichenauer. For the seniors, this was a tough change losing their first high school coach.

Although there were many changes the girls still held through a competitive season. They finished with an overall record of 15-7. This is not all that they walked away with, they also gained a 1987-88 sectionals trophy against Bishop Luers by a one point win with only a few seconds in the game when they scored the winning point. After that fabulous win they advanced to the regionals final game.

After gaining all the wonderful things in the season they also had to face a great loss. The loss of four extraordinary players (Denise Scheumann, Tammy Lydy, Julie Davison, and Karen Ottenweller). They also lost a very hard working and determined manager, Amy Shellenbarger.

Ignoring the opponent, Senior Julie Davison concentrates on the shot.

Jumping for the ball, Senior Denise Scheumann tries to out jump her opponents.

Asking some of the cheerleaders what they like about cheerleading responses were:

“It’s fun and exciting. But camp is a lot of work! I had a blast though!!” Melissa Holloway

“I thought it was fun but no one came to our games!! I’m looking forward to next year!” Tammy Faller

Brenda Johnson laughs and says, “Oh I liked the pizza parties, the Christmas party at the Back Forty, and the gab sessions we always had.” But then on a serious note she tells us that “cheerleading really is a lot of fun and worth while!”

“Coming to a new school for freshman try-outs was a lot easier because there were 100 people trying out at my other school and anyone could watch us. I liked it a lot better and I made a lot of new friends through it.” Mimi Hombach

Winning through luck and improvements.

This year's baseball and golf teams showed great improvements.

The baseball teams grew larger in number and in success. They experienced a tough season but still managed to have a great deal of fun and enjoyment.

As always, the team showed many superb plays and players. Phil Graf, Gary Fry, and Matt Gerardot were a few of these outstanding players.

The golf team also had a very unique and profitable season. For the first time sophomore Chris Peckham got a hole in one. Many believe it was a miracle. Others feel it was just a lucky shot. The reason really does not matter to Chris. Maybe it was a lucky streak but then again it does not happen to everyone. Chris wasn't the only one with luck. The team progressed throughout the season and pulled through to win some very close games.

Changes are What Life is All About

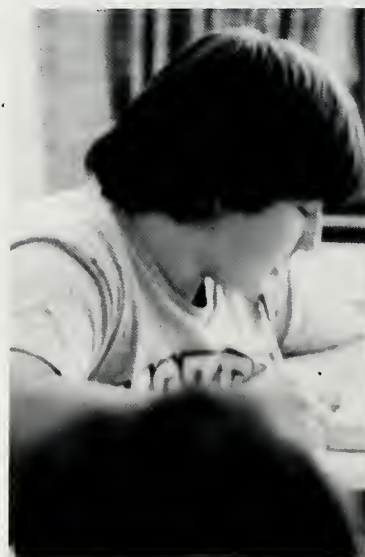

Changes happen every year and for one group of students there were some big changes.

When the seventh graders entered Heritage the night of orientation, changes were already taking place . . . meeting new friends to the loss of old friends.

Like always, there was the same question in every one's mind, "How am I ever going to remember where everything is at?!!!!!!" As they walked around in a daze trying to find their lockers and classes, many were saying, "Please don't let me get lost."

After a while the first day butterflies were not longer around. Many seventh graders had the chance to get involved with school activities. One student best sums it up by saying, "It was a little scary to begin with but now I'm having a great time."

While studying quietly, Darrel Muldoon reads to himself.

The "Upperclass" has a fun year.

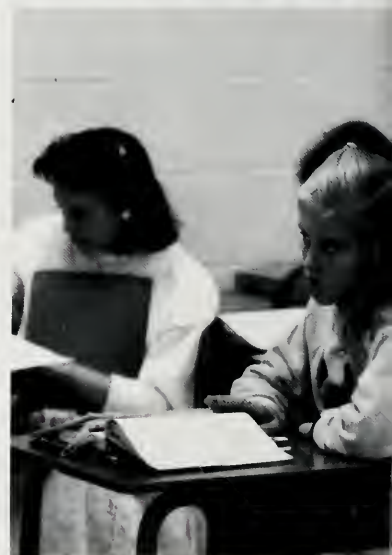

The "upperclass" of Junior High is what the eighth graders called themselves. They had a feeling of new found maturity after leaving the seventh grade.

There were many activities in which the eighth graders participated in; dances, field day, biking trips, and skating parties.

Some of the gifted students in the eighth grade were able to participate in the EACS program (Enrichment in Academic and Creative Subjects). These students were: Jack Brewer, Kirk Galligher, Mike Miller, Jennifer O'Brien, Mary Ellen Reidenbaugh, and Melissa Lineberry.

Some of the eighth grade students were asked what they most looked forward to next year as high school students. Here are some of their comments: Tami Meyers: "I'm looking forward to meeting new people, having new classes, new teachers, and being more a part of my school." Shane Ramirez: "I'm looking forward to more fun than this year!" Chad Love: "Psychological enlightenment!"

Looking very "enthused", Renee Frecker listens to the lecture.

Looking at the teacher, Tami Meyers struggles to pay attention to what is being said.

"C'mon! Give me a break!", says Heather Smith, after the teacher loads the homework on the class.

Jr. High Enjoy Field Day Events

The first full-day field event for Jr. High took place on May 13, at Oaubache State Park (Bluffton).

Seventh and eighth grade students participated in many events ranging from water balloon toss to the famous Tug-of-War.

Jr. High teachers and parents assisted organizing and operating the field events.

But like most Jr. High field days, the eighth grade captured the victory.

Hard Practices Bring about Rewarding Year

As the 87-88 school year drew to a close, many Jr. High students had much to be proud of. Hard practices and sore muscles brought about a rewarding year for both the football team and the basketball team. With much strength and much pride, the wrestling team proved to others that the Patriots were hard to beat and wouldn't fall without a fight. As the ward Spring months came along so did the track season. New records were set by many team members as well as new times to be beat in the upcoming years.

Girls Maintain a Successful Year

This past year went well for the junior high girls. The Fall season started off with volleyball, and cross country. Cheerleading tryouts were also held at this time. In the Winter was basketball, and gymnastics. Then in the Spring there was track.

All of the teams' seasons went well, even if the losses were greater than the wins. It's not just winning that counts, it's the effort that you put into it.

This year the Junior High A.C.A.C. Volleyball Tournament was to be held at Heritage, but due to unfortunate circumstances it had to be held at Woodlan.

Most of the eighth grade girls are already looking forward to competing on the high school teams. These girls definitely have the spirit and the drive to benefit our school.

One member of the Cross Country team had this to say about the sport, "Cross Country is hard work, but it's worth all of the fun we have afterwards!"

Giving a shrug, Anne Lomont tells us how she feels about Track.

Dashing for the finish line, Janell Hughes tries to place in the race.

Rewarding Year for Busy Bikers

Because of the overwhelming success last year, the Jr. High Bike Club is still in business and growing stronger.

This year's club consists of forty boys and girls who have participated in many activities over the year. The club has gone to various places from Fox Island to Bluffton State Park.

The annual Bike Rodeo was held in the parking lot at Heritage. Many members had a chance to show off their skills, from how far they can glide to sudden stops. Many parents showed up to watch their children participate.

When the Bike Club went on an overnight trip to Fox Island, the group had a chance to find out what it was like to camp out under the big bright stars. When asked if Fox Island was any fun, Tami Meyer replied, "It was great. I'm going to miss the Bike Club next year."

This year's club held a Bike-a-thon to raise money for St. Jude's Hospital. The club raised over $800 to help the terminally ill children. When asked how she felt about helping raise the money for St. Jude's, Heather Whiteside replied, "It really makes me feel good to know that I'm helping many people and having fun at the same time!"

Putting up their tent, Candy Fry and Tami Meyer work hard.

While putting up their tent, Chris Marquardt and Jason Meyers get caught by the camera.

Before leaving on their over-nite trip, Bike Club members sit around.

Showing her concentration while cheering at a junior high football game, Nanette Lynch looks at the crowd.

Flashing a smile of innocence, Laura La-shure convinces the teacher that nothing is really going on.

Junior High has a busy year.

The Junior High Student Council, advised by Mr. Sadler, has been very busy this past year. They organized dances, sold concessions during junior high basketball games, cleaned out the trophy cases, and organized the birthday board, just to name a few of the things.

The Junior High Bike Club, sponsored by Mrs. Pitcher, has also had its share of excitement this past year. The club has gone on camping trips, and has held bike rodeos here at Heritage. They also participated in the St. Jude Bike-a-thon to help raise money for the charity.

Both the Junior High Choir and the Junior High Band have been busy. Both groups participated in the annual spring concert and also performed at the Junior High Honors Banquet.

The junior high students held their annual field day on May 13, at Quabache State Park in Bluffton. That was an experience that won't be easily forgotten by the students.

The junior high also held a honors banquet to honor the students for their achievements in academics and athletics.

Our Little Corner is full of spirit

Eating pizza in the courtyard, these senior girls realize that their high school years are almost over.

Completing an assignment, Junior Fayth Zellers makes sure all her work is handed in before the last day.

The seventh period hall roamers posed one last time on the stairs before school got out!

The Senior class at field-day, show their spirit by cheering on the members of their class who participated in the obstacle course.

After a shaving cream fight on field-day, these sophomores and juniors pose to show their style.

NEVER SAY GOODBYE

The school year has come to a close. Many changes took place and became "locked" away at Heritage. Despite the occasional frustration, we'll remember the good times. And through all the assignments, tests, and long after school hours, we handled it.

Just remember, no matter how tragic, how funny, how exciting, or how impossible the school year was, it was over so quickly! I want to dedicate this poem to the Class of '88. Hey guys, the best is yet to come! Hold your head up high and don't let go of your dreams!

THANKS FOR BEING MY FRIEND

My Friend, we've grown so close together, it's hard to say good-bye. Thinking of those times we've had, almost makes me cry.

This time has come to make us strong and test beyond our minds. For the best is yet to come and the past to leave behind.

But before we travel on, there's something we must face; the challenge of our lifetime and our friends we will replace.

Don't look back to see the times we seldom strayed away, Just hold tight to see ahead what the future brings today.

Those hazy dreams that are yet to be, will bring you much success.

In the hopes and tears from our high school years you'll see much happiness.

Parting now we'll test our fear of being all alone,

For if you make new friends like me, you'll know that you have grown.

An inspiration and challenge it's been to complete these four short years,

And parting with a friend like you, brings me many tears.

Drawing to a close now, we taught each other love,

From something that we hated to something high above.

So tuck me now, deep down inside and take me through tomorrow,

To face with you that strength that will overcome your sorrow.

I thank you, friend, for growing with me and for this moment now,

As I part with you at this special time I want to make a vow:

I'll keep in mind the friend you've been and I won't forget you now.

So go My Friend into the world and don't ever let go,

And thank the Lord for all the times that we will always know.

Please let me know where you'll be, so things for us won't end,

I'll miss you all so badly, but thanks for being my friend.

A.K.

Looking forward to their last day of school, Seniors Chris Pierce and Gary Fry celebrate in gym class while doing aerobics.

Knowing that school would soon be out, Juniors Eric Sutter and Steve Moilenan leave you with a "peace" sign.
